

PERC

Pain
Education &
Resource
Community

A new web site

Want to use your education & work from home? Educate, teach, train & empower from home.

PERC, a community website to help individuals who suffer from chronic pain and those that treat them, is looking for a part-time person with rehabilitation training &/or experience and good organizational skills to move beyond the 1:1 client relationship & to provide therapists with on-line learning. PERC is integrating the 25 years Barbara Headley, MS, PT has specialized in pain management and using Internet technology to help guide people through treatment options.

Required Skill Set:

- Ability to edit and format document layouts
- Ability to write short technical articles
- Work with a team of international pain experts & contributing members
- Creative, problem-solving skills to assist with start-up
- Basic knowledge of Microsoft Word (graphics programs helpful, not required)
- Good working knowledge of computers, searches
- Ability to work from home
- Basic office organizational skills
- Background in physical therapy/rehabilitation, degree not required

Hours:

24 hours/week [This could increase based on skills, interest in growth with company]

Benefits:

- Ability to work from home
- Option of getting group health insurance

Pay:

To be negotiated based on experience, skill set

Start Date:

ASAP

For more information on this position and PERC, please contact
Barbara Headley, MS, PT at:

<bjh.PERC@knowchronicpain.com>